

Stand Out from the Rest

LSA RECRUITMENT
REAL PEOPLE. REAL PARTNERSHIPS.

A woman with dark hair in a ponytail, wearing glasses and a dark pinstriped business suit, is shown in profile from the back, talking on a black mobile phone. She is standing on a balcony or terrace with a metal railing. In the background, a city skyline with various skyscrapers is visible under a clear blue sky.

The Future of Recruitment is here

LSA Recruitment typifies a new era in Recruitment, designed to meet Australia's changing labour market.

A true alternative to traditional recruiting methods, LSA Recruitment has built its processes on a sound human resources foundation, while also taking an innovative approach to ensuring alignment of interests in ensuring the best person is found to join our client's teams.

The experts in your industry that you can trust

Our Recruitment Specialists all own their own slice of LSA Recruitment which means that whether you are a client or candidate, you will be dealing with the individual business owner who has the support of a national operation. In turn, this equates to service that is unmatched in the recruitment industry where each Recruitment Specialist has a personal and vested interest in the successful outcome of every placement and temp assignment. It also ensures that the consultant you are dealing with today will still be there tomorrow to help you with your recruitment needs.

“Incorporating 3 separate, yet totally connected, stakeholders with the common goal of matching the talented individual to the definitive role”

LSA Professional Recruiters take their experience, contacts and knowledge and apply their significant skills to create value in their own business by supporting them with the systems, processes and business management tools required in a recruitment business designed for today’s commercial environment.

Candidate Commitment We recognise we will succeed if we can find you the right role which is aligned with your talents and career goals.

Client Commitment Our commitment is to provide personal, professional, confidential and cost effective people solutions for our clients. We are committed to finding the right person to join your team and will actively seek out the best candidates.

What gives LSA “The Edge” in Recruitment

LSA Recruitment is built on an ethos of providing top quality service, with proven performance and superior ethical and business practices. We are driven by the fundamental principle of exceeding our clients' expectations as a supplier of reliable, responsible, motivated and experienced staffing solutions.

Recruitment is often considered to be an administrative function and is approached accordingly. We aim to create a “people solutions plan” that goes beyond the typical admin platform, providing the client with a valued outsourced solution and engaging quality candidates through our dedication and superior service.

LSA Recruitment has the industry reputation of providing premium service in a professional, cost effective manner. Employers utilise our service regardless of market conditions because they know that by dealing directly with the LSA business owner they are assured that their individual needs are understood and met.

LSA Recruitment Owner-Recruiters have a personal and vested interest in the successful outcome of every placement and temp assignment.

The LSA model ensures that the recruitment specialist that you are dealing with today, will still be there tomorrow to help you with your future recruitment needs.
